Leading With A Smile Workshop

Our definition of 'leadership' is simply 'getting people to go above their job description'. This is easy to say but much less easy to achieve. The problem is that the whirlwind of change in the last 12 months means that school leaders and teams are worn out by incessant initiatives and budget cuts. We're challenged to come up with new ways of working and most people are sick to death of being asked to 'think outside the box'. Staff numbers have been eroded. And, as the dark winter months approach, staff energy levels will dwindle even further. We plod on, counting down to the weekend or the next holiday. Then we'll be happy! But what if we've got it all wrong?

The 'Art of Brilliance' team will talk about their research into happiness and flourishing and how it's a vital ingredient in times of change. They will (almost certainly) entertain you with tales of '2%ers' and 'mood hoovers'. They might talk about oranges, hard boiled eggs and Bob the Builder. They might venture into clever territory, in which case you'll get Losada, flow, heliotropes and 'social contagion'. If you're lucky, they might even share a couple of top happiness tips. Who knows? 'Leading with a Smile' is a flexible feast. Intricate planning is good. But flying by the seat of your pants is so much more exciting!

About Andy Whittaker

Andy is a trainer, best-selling author and frustrated comic. He is also an NLP (Neuro Linguistic Programming) trainer and master of time line therapy. He has spent his time learning about leadership, communication, human interaction and positive psychology. Andy co-writes the Being Brilliant series of books and has delivered to companies as diverse as DHL, University of Nottingham, Smith & Nephew, Ginsters, IKEA, Pirelli and The National Trust. His keynotes are thought-provoking, inspiring and very funny. The 'Art of Brilliance' team have adapted their hugely successful business leaders' programme to meet the needs of teachers, parents and teenagers. Andy W is at the forefront of school delivery.
